The role of lymphocyte homing receptors in the generation of the immune response in the lymph node germinal center (GC) is incompletely understood. Recent studies have shown that alpha4beta7 and the related receptor, alpha4beta1, are important for the homing of naive T cells to the spleen marginal zone and Peyer's patches, respectively. The importance of these integrins for lymphocyte homing to the GC is unknown. We have determined the expression of alpha4beta1 and alpha4beta7 on immune cells in the spleen and lymph nodes of mice. Both integrins are expressed by T and B cells and dendritic cells in the GC. Splenic GC T cells express high levels of alpha4beta7 and alpha4beta1, whereas the GC B cells and dendritic cells express moderate to low levels of these integrins. Integrin expression is downregulated on GC cells that have emigrated from the lymph node into the splenic red pulp. To determine the functional significance of the expression of alpha4beta7 in the GC, we used anti-alpha4beta7 mAb to block adhesion of alpha4beta7-expressing T cells to the splenic marginal zone stromal cells. The results show that alpha4beta7 is important for naive T cells to enter and reside in the splenic marginal zone. These findings suggest that a similar mechanism controls the homing of naive T cells to the GC. A new poll has found that 32 percent of Americans are now opposed to same-sex marriage, a record-high level of opposition that has remained unchanged over the past two years. The Gallup polling organization, which has found the number of Americans opposed to gay marriage is increasing, found that opposition has reached a record-high level of 32 percent, according to a survey conducted from May 9-13, 2012. That is the same level of opposition Gallup found two years ago. The new poll was taken right after the Supreme Court heard oral arguments in the case of 82157476af
